++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry at first, but turning wetter over the weekend.

Today:
Overnight cloud and fog quickly clears to give a warm, dry and sunny day. However, some thicker cloud begins to build into the west during the morning, with western coasts seeing some rain by the afternoon. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Turning cloudier overnight, as thicker cloud continues to move in. Rain makes slow progress east, lingering over the west of the country. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Saturday:
Overnight fog soon lifts, giving a cloudy day across the country. Patchy rain lingers in the west while scattered showers begin to develop in the east, heavy at times. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Wet and cloudy on Sunday, with some organised heavy showers. Further showers into Monday, these lighter and less frequent with some sunny spells in between. Drier Tuesday, with variable cloud.
